Educating Students in a Catholic Tradition of Excellence for the Next 75 Years

November 20, 2018

Dear Alumnus of Annunciation School,

The students, faculty and staff of Annunciation School are in the midst of another productive school year celebrating both old and new traditions. Mrs. Rose Ragone is working hard to ensure Annunciation School remains academically robust in the Catholic tradition. Our students recently participated in the annual Halloween Carnival, which was a great success, thanks to all the hard work of the Eighth Grade. Our third-grade students dressed up as saints for the All Saints Day Mass celebration. Eighty school families have volunteered to dedicate the month of November in prayer for our deceased alumni. These traditions are some of the reasons that Annunciation School is so special.

Last year, we celebrated Annunciation School's 75th Anniversary. This anniversary marked the introduction of The AES Crestwood Foundation, whose mission is to provide financial support to our school so that we may continue the promise of an excellent Catholic education for generations to come. Thanks to your generosity, last year's Annual Fund raised over $125,000. What an amazing start for the Foundation!

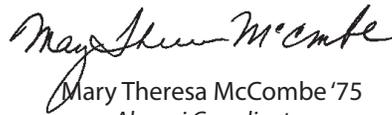

Over the summer, a number of improvements were made to ensure Annunciation School is a safe and nurturing learning environment. Improved security systems were installed, the hallways were retiled and a new playground, for our younger students, was installed. Through your generosity, the Foundation was able to make a contribution toward these improvements, and the Board of Directors looks forward to working with Mrs. Ragone and Fr. Robert Grippo to provide additional funding in the coming years.

As we look forward to Thanksgiving and Advent, we are reminded of all that we are grateful for. One of those things is having the opportunity to be a student at Annunciation School, where our education began, friendships and memories were made, and our faith was taught and strengthened. We hope that you will, again, consider making a year-end gift to The AES Crestwood Foundation so that generations of students will have that same opportunity.

Sincerely,

Laura Finneran
